

User Experience CraftBot

Helps people emotionally grow throughout the learning of water colors.

What does your AI Chatbot do?

The user is either a person in emotional distress or is unsure about themselves or a water color enthusiast.

Who is your user? What do they want?

Lots of online advertising and collaborations with therapy organizations.

How do they find your bot?

Typically they would provide backup information about themselves then through an artistic drawing process they will ask questions and get answers on how to proceed.

How do they interact with the bot?

Better water color skills and emotional security.

What do they learn?

How comforting and enjoyable the process was.

What do they tell others about their experience?
